Policies and Procedures

Course Goals

Macroeconomics is the field of economics that studies what is happening to the economy as a whole. This introductory course equips you with basic knowledge and analytical skills in macroeconomics, including topics such as international trade, economic growth, business cycles, monetary policy, fiscal policy, unemployment and inflation. It not only helps you see the real world through the eyes of an economist, but also enables you to explain and solve real world problems.

Prerequisite

MAT 130 (College Algebra) or higher

Student Learning Outcomes

Upon successful completion of this course, you should be able to:

1. Learn the basic economic principles so that you can examine a variety of social issues from the perspective of economics.
2. Understand the key ideas and major issues of macroeconomics.
3. Be able to apply the concepts studied in class to the real world, and understand the economic and political jargon in everyday news.
4. Identify the major determinants of long-run economic growth.
5. Discuss monetary and fiscal policies, along with financial systems.
6. Data-Informed Decision Making: The ability to collect, analyze, and evaluate various types of data to guide decisions.

Participation and Grading

Your grade in this course will be determined by your performance in the following categories:

*Problem Sets	200 points
*Discussions	80 points
*Class Participation	50 points
*Final Exam (Cumulative)	70 points

Grading Scale

The final letter grade will be assigned as follows:

> 360 or above 90%	A
320-359 or 80%-89.9%	B

Civility in the Academic Community

Students, faculty, and staff are expected to treat one another with respect in all interactions. In the classroom, rude, disruptive and/or disrespectful behaviors as determined by a faculty member interfere with other students' rights and with the instructor's ability to teach. Therefore, any student exhibiting unacceptable behaviors during a class will be asked to leave and will be counted absent for that class period. Failure to cooperate with this process will result in disciplinary action that may include withdrawal from the class or dismissal from the College. Violations will be reported to the Provost's Office

Disabilities Statement

Wesleyan College is committed to equal education, full participation and access to facilities for all students. Any student who requires reasonable academic accommodations, use of auxiliary aids or facility access for a class must first register with Disability Resources by contacting Jill Amos, Director of Disability and Advocacy Services, jamos@wesleyancollege.edu or (478) 757-5219. If reasonable accommodations are established, students should request Accommodation Letters from Disability Resources then schedule an appointment to meet with the professor to determine how the accommodations will be implemented for each class as early in the semester as possible. Accommodations require advance notice to implement and will not be retroactively administered for the semester. Accommodations that decrease the integrity of a course will not be approved.
